Broilers are becoming an increasing better buy for the cost conscious consumer. Poultry is high in Vitamin B and Protein but lower in fats and calories than the red meats.

Hamburger costs from 50¢ to 65¢ per pound compared with 25¢ to 35¢ for broilers.

With this price advantage the average consumer spends less than 25 percent of her meat dollar for poultry.

It's said that the reason poultry is served less often is because conveniences are not built into the product and the ways that it can be served are limited.

Samuel Martin showed me a tobacco sale he made last week. 1400 pounds with a 70¢ average. He grew 5 acres of Dark Tobacco and one acre of Burley. If this kind of sale continues he should average close to $2000 per acre.

A major shift is underway in the type of farrowing house and finishing floors being constructed by Virginia hog producers.

A slotted floor farrowing house will increase the litter size by one and decrease the labor requirements by 30 per cent.

For finishing a slotted floor will permit 50 percent more hogs to be finished with the same amount of labor.

One slotted farrowing house and two slotted finishing floors have been built in Appomattox County this year.

There may yet be hope for DDT. A California Company has developed a catalyst that when added to DDT will cause it to decompose in a few weeks. DDT is long lasting – some studies show that it is still in the soil 10 to 12 years after application.

The Peace Corps operates in 60 countries and its needs are growing. Next year the need is for 8,000 trainees.

Animal husbandry, crop rotation, soil science, irrigation, fertilization -- if you've got a background in farming, any of these subjects are familiar to you. But what about the farmer in Africa, Asia and Latin America? Your knowledge is a tool that can help him feed his family, move from subsistence to income -- earning farming and help his nation's economy grow. The only hitch, someone must go and work with him. That could be you, if you've been raised on a farm or if you have an Ag degree. Could you give two years of your life to help teach other farmers what modern farming is all about?

Applications are available from this office.

Plans are now underway to offer Appomattox residents -- particularly 4-H member families an opportunity to host an IFYE in 1970.

It is our belief that international understanding must begin with the family group, the foundation for all society.

If you are interested in being a host family -- call us today.

Get-Away Bogs Down On Runway

Robert E. McClenny, Jr., soil conservationist for Appomattox – Campbell counties says that all is not "serious" with conservationists. As a case in point he has submitted the following:

In connection with the capture of four suspected bank robbers, the Alamosa, Colo., VALLEY COURIER carried the tongue-in-check headline, "Advice to Bank Robbers Is Being Offered by SCS." The planned getaway of the four accused in connection with the holdup of the First National Bank of La Jara was thwarted when their airplane bogged down in mud on the dirt runway of a seldom used airport nearby. The story told of our mapping and classifying the lands of the county, and that the airport had been mapped as having deep heavy "gumbo" soils that stay wet and become boggy following rains or heavy irrigation, and added: "This kind of information would be invaluable to bank robbers for spotting those areas where the plane may bog down and not be able to make a quick getaway."

NOTICE

The American Legion will not meet on its regular meeting date (Dec. 22). Due to the nearness to Christmas and full schedule of other activities the Post will not meet in December. Next meeting Jan. 26. Ivey Holland, Commander.
